On behalf of my colleagues, first, I would like to appreciate JCCP members for inviting us to this course.

I find it is inspiring in Japan. Japan has great culture and very respectful to foreigners. There are always many things to learn by visiting Japan.

Visiting Japanese companies and knowing their work practice enrich one's experiences by learning new methods to conduct work efficiently and effectively.

JCCP did an excellent job in selecting material of the course and in coordination with different parties involved. The course scope covers important fields like safety, economics and response to new challenges, also availed industry leaders and sometimes university professors to cover some of the course material which were very useful.

The arrangement of the field trip was excellent both for selecting the sites for scenery and shedding some light in Japanese history.

The JCCP members were very helpful and cooperative.
